The Best Things We Ate in 2012

9:00 AM / DECEMBER 28, 2012 / POSTED BY Bon Appetit

The coolest thing I ate this year was calf brain ravioli with brown butter and sage from Jamie Bissonette and Ken Oringer's Coppa in Boston. I was nervous at first--I had never eaten brain before--but all my fears were quelled when I took a bite and the handmade pasta gave way to the mild, custard-like poached brain filling. It was pretty mind-blowing. No pun intended. --Danielle Walsh, bonappetit.com
